MANUFACTURING
ENGINEERING TECHNOLOGY I,
CERTIFICATE

Requirements for an undergraduate certificate may be completed at any campus location offering the specified courses for the certificate.

Program Description
This series of engineering courses is designed for the working adult who would like to augment their knowledge in the workplace with practical engineering courses. This certificate is designed to teach critical skills and knowledge needed to function effectively in today's manufacturing workplace.

What is Manufacturing Engineering Technology?
Manufacturing engineering is a field that covers the many processes involved in the production of a particular object.

You Might Like This Program If...
• You enjoy working with processes and materials.
• You want to add this knowledge and skills to your engineering portfolio.

Program Requirements
To earn an undergraduate certificate in Manufacturing Engineering Technology I, a minimum of 15 credits is required.

It is recommended that participants take the following classes in order.

Academic Advising
The objectives of the university's academic advising program are to help advisees identify and achieve their academic goals, to promote their intellectual discovery, and to encourage students to take advantage of both in-and out-of class educational opportunities in order that they become self-directed learners and decision makers.

Both advisers and advisees share responsibility for making the advising relationship succeed. By encouraging their advisees to become engaged in their education, to meet their educational goals, and to develop the habit of learning, advisers assume a significant educational role. The advisee's unit of enrollment will provide each advisee with a primary academic adviser, the information needed to plan the chosen program of study, and referrals to other specialized resources.
