

COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY (CNPSY)

CNPSY 502: Advanced Counseling Theory and Method

3 Credits

Assessment, intervention, and evaluation procedures for counseling problems frequently encountered in school, college, and rehabilitation settings. CN ED 502CN ED (CNPSY) 502 Advanced Counseling Theory and Method (3)This course is concerned with the exploration of ideas that are of theoretical and applied importance to thinking about counseling and psychotherapy. The course is not a skills course, per se, although many of the readings have clear implications for enhancing your therapeutic skills. Nor is the course meant to be a review of theories of personality or counseling typically covered in earlier courses. This course is open to CN ED and CNPSY students. The prerequisite is CN ED 501.

Prerequisite: CN ED501 course open only to CN ED and CNPSY doctoral students.

Cross-listed with: CNED 502

CNPSY 515: Family Systems Therapy: Theory, Research and Practice

3 Credits

Examines theory, research, and interventions grounded in family systems framework (e.g., Bowenian, Structural Strategic, etc.) from a psychological perspective. CNPSY 515 CNPSY 515 Family Systems Therapy: Theory, Research and Practice (3) This seminar will (a) familiarize students with the history of family therapy approaches and their contributions to the field of mental health service, (b) provide students with an opportunity to learn about the major approaches in family therapy, (c) introduce students to family therapy research, and (d) encourage students to reflect on the patterns in their own family of origin and family of choice. During this introductory seminar in family systems, theory, students will gain exposure to the field of family therapy through: a variety of readings, including original articles written by theorists and journal articles discussing the research findings; experiential exercises and videotapes of family therapy and consultation sessions conducted by expert family therapists. The course is offered once a year and is open to graduate students in developmental, social and behavioral sciences and related fields.

Prerequisite: graduate standing; 6 credits in psychological development (e.g., HD FS 429 or equivalent), and/or counseling theory (e.g., CN ED 503 or equivalent).

CNPSY 554: Cross-Cultural Counseling

3 Credits

Examines theory, research, and models of counseling relationships between counselors and clients of different racial and sociocultural backgrounds. CNPSY 554CNPSY (CN ED) 554 Multicultural Counseling (3) This course is an advanced multicultural counseling course designed to help doctoral students: (a) develop mastery of the multicultural counseling literature, (b) promote self-awareness and self-knowledge, (c) facilitate the construction of cultural knowledge to increase awareness and sensitivity to issues affecting multicultural populations, (d) identify intervention strategies applicable to multicultural clients, and (e) promote development of a personal philosophy of multicultural counseling toward becoming a multiculturally competent counselor. The course is open to CN ED and CNPSY doctoral students who have successfully completed CN ED 507, CN ED 595A or CNPSY 595A, or equivalent courses.

Prerequisite: CN ED507 , CN ED595A , or CNPSY595A

Cross-listed with: CNED 554

CNPSY 555: Career Counseling

3 Credits

The examination of historical, legislative, and current models of career counseling and the development of pertinent individual and group techniques. CN ED 555CN ED (CNPSY) 555 Career Counseling (3) This course is an advanced extension of CN ED 505, Foundations of Counseling Infon-nation or its equivalent. In CN ED 501, students acquire a theoretical understanding of models of career development, decision-making, career education, information systems and information resources. In CN ED/CNPSY 555, students will have an opportunity to related such learning to the place of work in human behavior, models of career counseling, the role-play of such models, the practice of career appraisal and the broad economic, social, and legislative contexts, including the global economy, stimulating current emphases on career counseling. This course is open to CN ED and CNTSY students. The prerequisite is CN ED 501.

Prerequisite: CN ED505

Cross-listed with: CNED 555

CNPSY 582: Advanced Group Psychotherapy

3 Credits

Study of group psychotherapy and interventions, with an experiential component. Available only to majors in CN ED and CNPSY.

Cross-listed with: CNED 582

CNPSY 589: Seminar on Counseling Supervision

1 Credits

Study of research about and theoretical models of clinical supervision of counselors; includes preparation for a practicum in counseling supervision.

Prerequisite: available only to doctoral-level majors in CN ED and CNPSY
Cross-Listed

CNPSY 594: Research in Counseling

2-6 Credits/Maximum of 6

The design, implementation, and evaluation of counseling research projects.

CNPSY 595: SPECIAL TOPICS

1-6 Credits/Maximum of 6

CNPSY 595D: Supervision of Counselors

1-9 Credits/Maximum of 9

Practical experience in supervising and evaluating work of counselors.

Prerequisite: CN ED595A or CN ED595B ; available only to majors in CN ED and CNPSY

Cross-listed with: CNED 595D

CNPSY 596: Individual Studies

1-9 Credits/Maximum of 9

Creative projects, including nonthesis research, which are supervised on an individual basis and which fall outside the scope of formal courses.

CNPSY 600: Thesis Research

1-15 Credits/Maximum of 999

NO DESCRIPTION.

CNPSY 601: Ph.D. Dissertation Full-Time

0 Credits/Maximum of 999

No description.

CNPSY 602: Supervised Experience in College Teaching

1-3 Credits/Maximum of 3

No description available.

CNPSY 611: Ph.D. Dissertation Part-Time

0 Credits/Maximum of 999

No description.