LIBRARY STUDIES (LST)

LST 83: The Twenty-First Century Researcher

1 Credits

Students learn to use technology and Libraries resources to access and cite relevant information into academic research projects. LST 083S The Twenty-First Century Researcher (1) This course will equip students with research skills for academic success at Penn State. The class will investigate the Libraries' physical facility and scholarly, academic online resources as a single, holistic learning lab, and engage students by providing hands-on experience in how to conduct research across the disciplines and in all formats. Students will develop and use several cutting-edge communications tools, including blogs, podcasts, and personal portals. By the end of the course, students will be able to create and conduct research projects, and integrate their findings into outstanding papers and presentations in a variety of media.

First-Year Seminar

LST 301: Information Research Methods and Systems

1 Credits

Survey of information theories, structures and resources as related to library research methods for social, behavioral sciences and the humanities.

Honors

LST 370: Research Methods for Law and Government Information Resources

3 Credits

Evaluating, retrieving and integrating Federal and Legal Information Resources into scholarly research. LST 370 Research Methods for Law and Government Information Resources (3) This course covers basic legal research and government information skills: (1) the structure and types of federal primary and secondary legal sources; (2) the structure and types of federal government information; and (3) electronic and print databases and indices to locate legal and government information. Students will develop research methods for locating and using judicial, executive, and legislative branch information sources in scholarly and disciplinary research.

Prerequisite: 3 credits in Administration of Justice, Political Science, Communication, History or Sociology

LST 490: Archival Management

1-3 Credits/Maximum of 3

Introduction to the principles and procedures in the management of archives and historical manuscripts.

Cross-listed with: HIST 490

Bachelor of Arts: Humanities

LST 495: Internship

1-9 Credits/Maximum of 9

Directed internship in library studies, archival administration, rare books curation and/or preservation.

Prerequisite: LST 490 or LST 496

LST 496: Independent Studies

1-18 Credits/Maximum of 18

Creative projects, including research and design, which are supervised on an individual basis and which fall outside the scope of formal courses. Students may not register for these courses without prior written approval of a faculty member in the department in which the courses are listed.